A WARNING FROM MRS. JONES

SHE SAYS WOMAN SUFFRAGE IS A RE-PUBLICAN PLOT.

TREELING STEECH AT THE HEADQUARTERS IN FOURTEUNTH ST. - THE GRATOR WAS LITTLE BUT FORMIDABLE.

She was a little woman dressed in black. Her fine my hair was parted in the middle, and draped in reful curves across her forchead back to her ears, and on it rested a small and rather rusty bonnet. Se didn't look particularly fierce when she entered the headquarters of the Woman Suffrage League, No. 19 East Fourteenth-st., one day last week. Everybody present took her for a demure worker h the cause from a rural district. But it didn't take her long to banish that idea. As soon as she was fairly inside the door she began to talk, and in the course of a twenty-minute speech, during which she had the floor all to herself, she roundly denounced ne Woman Suffrage movement as a conspiracy on the Woman Sunrage in evenient as a conspiracy of the part of the Republican party to overthrow Presi-dent Cleveland, establish negro domination in the South, deprive the West of its rights, oppress workig girls and threaten the country generally.

"Who am 17" she said, drawing herself up proudly and tapping her chest. "I am the woman who is going to block your schemes. I can do it, and when the time is ripe I will expose your base conspiracy and hold you up to the contempt of all the world. am an American woman, and so was my mother and my grandmother, all American women, and the genius of my family working in me will yet save this country from your pernicious grasp. My name shall be heralded everywhere as the champion of freedom and the destroyer of the Republican party. A WAR ECHO FROM DANIE.

"I am a Southern woman," and here her voice rose pearly to a scream. "I used to own niggers before the Republican party waged its infamous war on the South. My husband was a Confederate soldier, and be fought bravely for his country until he was killed by the Republican rebels and traitors. He was a publisher. He was an editor. Not like your so-called editors in this city, not one of whom knows anything Oh, how I despise them! Oh, how I long to destroy them! I have Oh, how I long to destroy them! I have told them so. They know that their day of doom is not far distant, and that I am the woman who is going to wipe them out of existence. That is why they are against me. That is why they are for common suffrage and the Republican party. Let them sman suffrage and the Republican party was in Philadeiphia when the Republican party fixed part of the city because it hated the working first and the Church. I am the one who has been appointed to avenge that outrage.

What have you suffrage women ever done for por working girls? Nothing. You are working gainst them. You are drawing fat salaries for your leturing and your campaigning, while I, who have fear everything that has ever been done for poor working girls am not drawing one cent. All because I will not sell myself to the Republican party. tored of invective. At every mention of hersels, she would tap her chest and assume a heroic atti-tude. DEPUTY MARSHALS BENT ON EXTERMINATING THE NOTORIOUS DALTON GANG.

Chicago, April 21.-A dispatch to "The Re from Perry, Ok., says the latest news from the reported battle between the Dalton gang and the posse of Deputy United States marshals is not as had as reported at first. A messenger named Casarrived Friday from the vicinity of the Twin Moun tains, and reports that one man was killed and a woman and little girl were wounded.
It seems that Bruce Miller, whose home is nea

McEiroy's Ranch, has been harboring the Dalt of late, and that the Daltons spent Sunday nigh at Miller's. The posse of deputy marshals, led by George McElroy and "Bill" Tighlman, learned that George McElroy and "Bill" Tighlman, learned that the Daltons slept at Miller's Sunday right, and they surrounded the house Monday morning. Bruce Miller, his brother, his wife and daughter, and a hired man were there, but the Daltons had left only twenty minutes before. The marshals posse consisted of only eight, and when they surrounded the house of Miller they thought the game was in sight, and they dispatched a courier to Tuisey for assistance. The marshals guarded the house from Monday at 9 a. m. to Tuesday night at midnight, when a terrible rainstorm came up, and they were compelled to leave. Miller and his crowd were in the house all this time, and hundreds of shots were fired by both sides. In the storm, Miller and his brother left the house, and when morning came a reinforcement of twenty men vented them from being sure of their identity.

Thirty deputy marshals are in the ballons' nest, and they are bent on the extermination of the notorious gam. A number of men have gone to the scene of the battle.

Hennessy, Ok., April 21.—Last night a courier brought news of a desperate fight between a sheriff's posse and the four despecadoes who broke jail at Newkirk, and have since killed two homesteaders in the Cherokee Strip, named Wintermuth and Osgoode. The posse had followed the banding trail since Thursday and had three relays of horses. They surrounded them in the sand hills, twenty miles west in the Cheyonne country. The bandits made a deperate resistance. They fired over fifty shots and slightly wounded two members of the posse, farmers from the Cheyonne country. Soft one of the desperatoes, was mortally wounded, and the two Gramiey brothers received wounds in the legs and shoulders. The deputies kept crawling close up to the canyon, in which the bandits were fortfiled, and unloaded their Winchesters into them until they holsted a white handkerchief as a signal of surrender. The couriers and the prisoners will be taken to Watonga, Blaine Country.

THE PRINT CLOTH MARKET.

Fall River, Mass., April 21 (Special). The cloth market here is very quiet, and the price has fallen again to 2% cents for 64x64s. At this price manufacturers would sell, but printers are not free buyers, and the outlook for higher quotations is not hopeful. The production of the week fell off 40,000 pieces, owing to the general observance of Patriots Otherwise there would have been a large Day. Otherwise there would have been a large accumulation of stock. The wage question is still in an unsettled state. The Cotton Manufacturers Association will meet Monday morning, and a committee will confer with a committee from the Muie Spinners' Union. The spinners voted this week not to accept a reduction of any kind. The King Philip strikers are still idle. About 12,099 operatives are affected.

The weekly cost statement is as follows: Production, 170,090 pieces; deliveries, 159,000; stock, 42,-699, of which $1,090 are olds and 36,090 drieds; last week's stock, 41,000; sales, 174,000, of which $5,000 were olds, 78,000 64854s, 25,000 spots, and 152,090 futures. Sales for weekly deliveries: April, 143,090; May, 117,000; June, E,000; July, 8,090; August, 5,000; September, 3,000 pieces.

KILLED IN A REAR-END COLLISION. Williamsport, Penn., April 21.-A dispatch to "The Times" gives particulars of a rear-end collision on he Williamsport and North Branch Railroad, near Ensdale, at 6,30 o'clock this morning. An engine Ensdale, at 6.30 o'clock this morning. An engine following a freight crushed into the caboose on the freight train, splitting the caboose open and killing Miss Mirlam P. Weish, daughter of Superintendent Weish, of the Williamsport and North Branch Rall-road, and badly injuring Mrs. Bailey, sister of Mr. Weish, and Mr. Clenathen, all of whom were in the caboose. Other passengers escaped. The engineer held responsible is John Hessler, who is reported to have either missed signals or lost control of his engine.

STORM IN THE CUMBERLAND VALLEY. Carlisle, Penn., April 21.-A terrific thunder and rain storm passed over the Cumberland Valley last night and destroyed thousands of dollars' worth of crops and other property. The northbound passenger train on the Cumberland Valley Ratiroad, senger train on the Cumberland Valley Rallroad, which left here at 8:40 o'clock, ran into a freight train at Greason's, five miles from here. The engine and bagsage cars were thrown from the track on their sides. The freight train had been blown from the siding on to the main track. No one was hurt. The passengers were transferred. Among the number was "General" Coxey, of the Commonweal Army, who was on his way to New-York from Hagerstown.

DR. DOTY DENIES REPORTS OF CARELESSNESS Chief Inspector Doty, of the Bureau of Conta the young woman who was sent to North Brothe Island from the Wetmore Home in South Washington Square on April 13, was undoubtedly suffering with smallpox at the time of her removal. She had a light attack of the disease, however, and She had a light attack of the disease, however, and was discharged from the Island on Friday.

Dr. Doty denied that the young woman had been sent adrift without proper clothing. Before she was taken to the city from the island a request had been sent to the Wetmore Home for clothing, he said, and several articles of ciothing had been given to her at the hospital on the Island. All of the clothing had been disinfected, and she had taken a bath, so she was in no danger of communicating smallpox to any other person. She carried some of her clothing in a bundle when she left the hospital, but she lost the bundle on an elevated train after she reached the city.

The last of the Arbuthnot porcelains were sold yesterday at the American Art Galleries, No. 6 East Twenty-third-st., and buyers seemed determined to secure at least one specimen from the collection. The highest day's total and the highest single price of the sale were reached in the session, the 2% pieces offered realizing $12,578 50. A number the 25 pieces offered realizing $12,578.50. A number of blue and white snuff-bottles and small vases went for moderate figures, the cabinet specimens contributing the larger part of the total result. The top price of the sale, $1,250, was paid for a Lang-yao crackle vase, lely inches high, of remarkable beauty. A tall peachblow cylindrical vase, of finely graded color and mottlings of verdigris, sold for $570, and a large piacone, beautifully decorated, bearing the Yung-cheng mark, browsh $250. Among the other three-figure pieces sold were a long, slender-necked hawthorn bottle, only two others of the kind being known to exist; this sold for $520. A superb egg-shell ovoid jar, of "orange-peel" surface, brought $255; a graceful temple vase of bine and white, $250; a superb, long, slender-necked Kang-he bottle, $250; a blue and white cylindrical vase, $24, and two fine powdered blue club vases, $310.

A FORMER TREASURY CLERK DISAPPEARS.

HE ELOPED SEVERAL YEARS AGO WITH AS-SISTANT TREASURER MELINE'S DAUGHTER. Washington, April 21.—George B. Merrick, of Connecticut, formerly a $1,600 clerk in the office of Six quarter the United States Treasurer, who was recently Eight quarter dismissed from the Treasury, has disappeared. The most serious allegation against him was that he had raised a number of notes, drawn by himself for small amounts and indursed by obliging friends in the same office. the same office.

He is the son-in-law of Assistant Treasurer Meline, having eloped with his daughter about four years ago. Mr. Meline has done everything he could for the young man, for his daughter's sake, and has helped him out of a number of escapades.

THE PUNERAL OF THOMAS W. LUDLOW. The funeral of Thomas W. Ludlow was held Friday afternoon at his home, Cottage Lawn, at Ludwith the history and growth of Yonkers. Mr. Ludlow received his degree of A. B. from Harvard in 182, and in the following year that of A. M. from writer on "The Evening Telegram" and "The New-York Herald." A residence of some months in Greece during 1879 had imbued him with a genuine fervor for that classic land and all things pertaining to it, and his labors and writings have been acology. He was a member of many literary and archaeological societies, among which may be met Hellenic Society of London, the Association pour Encouragement des Etudes Greeques, of Paris; the Archaeological Society of Athens, Greece; the Archaeological Institute of America; the Dante Society, of Cambridge, Mass, and the Harvard Club, of New-York. He was a member of the editorial society, distance of the was a member of the editorial of New-York. He was a member of the editorial staff of the Century Dictionary from its inception to its completion. It was while engaged upon this that he was stricken with the grip, which resulted in a chronic trouble of the throat. He was deeply interested in the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, and served as its secretary from the time of its foundation in 1852. As a member of the Executive Committee his counsels were wise and fruitful, and his influence marked. His long service as one of the editors of the papers of the school has been a labor of love and devotion.

Possessed of a fine literary sense and a keen appreciation of style, he was unwearied in his attention to form and detail, and his accurate knowledge made itself felt in all directions. In the midst of other engrossing duties he never failed to respond to calls upon his time for this work, and the Archaeological Institute and the Athens School owe him a debt of gratitude for his self-sacrifice in their heald. His wife, a member of the Carnochan and Morris families, of New-York, survives him, together with five children.
